

What kind of truck do you need to ship the test bench?

A) We normally prefer curtain-sided trucks as they allow easy loading and unloading operations by means of a forklift.

B) No matter if test benches are packed into a wooden crate or not, once onboard goods shall be securely fastened by the truck driver.

C) When unloading ensure forks of forklift cover the whole depth of the packaging and do not damage (or touch) other goods. Lift the crate from the bottom and ensure load is stable and safety conditions are reached before completing the unloading.
